A learner who receives an extension must not be unfairly advantaged over other learners. The intention is that an extension does not actually give the learner more time, but recognises that the learner has not been able to use the time allocated.

An extension may be considered in exceptional circumstances.

Cheating and Plagiarism Policy

AGI Education Limited (AGI) has ZERO Tolerance on cheating and plagiarism.

Cheating and plagiarism are viewed as serious academic misconducts. It is also unjust in that it devalues the grades and qualifications gained legitimately by other students. Students' submitted assignments, portfolios, group project or examinations must be their own work, reflecting each student's understanding and performance. Penalties may include suspension or expulsion from AGI.

All staff and students have a responsibility to prevent, discourage and report cheating.

Definitions

Cheating: means attempting to gain an unfair advantage by violating the principle of fairness and equity work by passing off as your own, work that has been done by someone else.

Plagiarism: means intellectually being dishonest by passing off as your own, work that has been done by someone else, pretending it to be your own by not acknowledging it.

Learner: means a person who is currently enrolled in a programme offered by AGI or was enrolled as a learner at the time of the alleged breach of this policy.

Misconduct: identified offences for which the Programme Leader/Academic Director will impose penalty under Learner Discipline policy.

Suspension: means complete exclusion from the institute until an investigation and/or hearing is complete.

Expulsion: means asking a learner to leave the institute forever.

Version :3 Date: Aug 2016	Version :6 Date: May 2018
Version :4 Date: Sept 2016	Version :5 Date: Octo 2016

Some examples of cheating and plagiarism

- Copying another student’s work for an assessment, test or examination, whether or not there is collusion between the students involved
- Using the work of an author when preparing coursework and pretending it to be your own by not acknowledging it
- Making up or fabricating data in research assignments, or the writing up of assignment and reports
- Impersonating someone else in a test or examination, or someone to impersonate you
- Feeling temporary illness/injury, then claiming special extenuating circumstances
- Using material obtained from commercial essay or assignment services
- Using material obtained from websites or internet without proper referencing

Consequences of cheating

- A student who is identified as having cheated, will be awarded a ‘Fail’ mark for that unit or module.
- The Student Disciplinary committee may also initiate a review for all the submitted work by the student. If the committee determines that previously submitted work may not be the work of the student, a ‘Fail’ mark may be awarded for that unit or module.
- When multiple offendings by the student is identified, The Student Disciplinary committee may also decide to withdraw the student from the programme.

Consequences of plagiarism

It is mandatory for students to submit their assignment through an AGI designated plagiarism software. An assessment found to be plagiarised will be dealt as below:

- All assignment showing 0 -10% plagiarism will only be considered for assessment.
- All assignment showing 11% -30% will be given one chance to re-submit with penalty

Version :3 Date: Aug 2016	Version :6 Date: May 2018
Version :4 Date: Sept 2016	Version :5 Date: Octo 2016

fees $150.

- All assignment showing more than 30% plagiarism will be referred to Student Disciplinary Committee.
- Student Disciplinary Committee may require the student to resubmit the assignment with penalty fees $150 or repeat the unit or module.
- If the resubmitted assignment is again found to be more than 10% plagiarised, the learner will have to repeat the unit or module.
- Referencing:
 - AGI follows APA referencing style in assignments. Students are informed about the referencing style by the tutor as part of the orientation.
 - Tutors arrange workshops to educate students about plagiarism and using the APA style referencing in assignments.
 - Students should seek additional support as and when required from their Programme Leader or relevant module tutors.

Group work

- Where the work of a group of students is assessed as part of the group assignment, group members need to make sure that the workload is shared equally.
- For group assessment, students will assess other students in the group using Peer Evaluation Form. This will encourage student involvement and responsibility.
- If the final piece of work reflects unequal participation, tutor will inform the Programme Leader.
- The Programme Leader will take action as appropriate and in some cases may refer the student or the group to the Academic Director or Student Disciplinary Committee, as required.

Recognition of Prior Learning, Recognition of Current Competency, Credit Transfer and Cross Credit Policy

AGI will not apply Recognition of Prior Learning, Recognition of Current Competency, Credit Transfer and Cross Credit either individually or collectively to more than 25% of any programme, (20% for overseas qualifications) unless there is a special agreement with another institution, which AGI recognises as having equivalency with the programme and curricula offered

AGI Education Limited will ensure that relevant experience and qualifications are recognized as prior learning or credit transfer for its programmes and qualifications.

The Academic Director/Programme Leader shall ensure that the provisions for recognition of cross credit / credit transfer for each course or programme are explicitly defined in the programme regulations. It must be ensured that these policies are available to the learner prior to enrolment.

Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL)

RPL applies when there is no formal academic record but a student believes he/she can meet the learning outcomes of courses/papers by providing evidences.

Recognition of Current Competency (RCC)

RCC refers to skills and knowledge that have been obtained outside a recognised institution which is then assessed for competency by AGI.

Version :3 Date: Aug 2016	Version :6 Date: May 2018

Accommodation Information

AGI uses accommodation agents to organise and monitor student accommodation following Outcome 6 of the Code of Practice for the Pastoral Care of International Students. If you are a student aged 14 - 17 years “you must stay at one of our approved homestays. “In most cases, you share some part of your living area with others, so you have to be aware of other people’s habits and respect them, as they should respect yours. If you are not sure of anything, you should contact our Student Welfare Officer.

Homestay (Recommended for full emersion into language and culture)

For students who would like to experience living with a local family this is a great option. Your homestay will provide your room complete with a bed, cupboard, and study desk with lamp and possibly you will eat and spent time with your homestay family. Your homestay should provide you with breakfast and dinner from Monday to Friday and with breakfast, lunch and dinner on Saturday and Sunday. You will generally use public transport to commute. You don’t have to pay separately for water or electricity but your homestay may ask you to limit your use of both as these commodities are expensive in New Zealand. You will be asked to pay for your own mobile phone or international calls and if you have a computer or want to use the homestay computer, you may be told to limit your use as you are charged for use of the line. You may not get the food you are used to, and every homestay has its own sets of the rules about how to fit into their home, but a homestay can be a very rewarding experience. Homestay service can be provided by AGI approved agents.

Version :3 Date: Aug 2016	Version :6 Date: May 2018
Version :4 Date: Sept 2016	Version :5 Date: Octo 2016

Homestay Payments are to be made in advance.

Please check with your homestay to extend your time and advise the AGI Student Welfare Officer by completing a Homestay Request Form. The Request Form must be completed 2 weeks in advance. Ensure the next homestay period is paid well before it is due. Late payment may lead to cancellation of the homestay arrangement.

Refund for unused homestay accommodation

A refund for unused homestay fees will be paid once you have vacated your homestay accommodation. If you have problems or are unhappy with your homestay, please contact the Student Welfare Officer immediately.

Hostel

For students who want more independence than a homestay, but not willing to take on the responsibility of a flat, a hostel is a good option. You may rent a room or share a room and the money you pay will usually cover access to cooking, cleaning and bathing facilities. In most hostels you can come and go as you please and you do your own cooking or go out to eat. You may meet students or tourists from lots of different countries while living in a hostel. You do not have to pay separately for water or electricity but probably will have a pay-system for a phone.

Apartment / Flat

Students who are staying for a long time may prefer to look for an apartment. An apartment is usually located in Auckland city. Students rent it from an agent or owner and may choose to split the cost of the whole apartment by dividing the rent by the number of people who live in it. In addition, you may have to buy and cook your own food. Most rental agreements cover the cost of water but you must arrange your own electricity and phone connection.

You must also carry that license or permit with you at all times when driving. You will only be able to drive those types of vehicles for which you were licensed in your country of origin. If you do not apply for a New Zealand driver's license within 12 months of arriving in New Zealand, you will become an unlicensed driver and could be charged if you are caught driving by the police. You need a license to obtain car insurance.

The Road code

The Road code explains the New Zealand driving laws and practices and is a guide for drivers who are preparing for a theory or practical driving test. You can buy a copy of the Rode Code from bookstores or you may borrow one from a public library.
